It's a lonely ride home, I don't mind if I do.
I could walk the mile. With one quick guess where's your Concern?
Do I leave the light on? Do you think it's true?
Just to lead another day
Several different ways.
She said Did you have something to say?
I should have walked away

So much for conversation
Does it have to be that way?
When you could talk for hours
Yet you direct none my way
Do I leave the light on?
Chalk up another day

Just to lead another day
Several different ways
She said Did you have something to say?
And I should have walked away

And when I see you, will you turn away?
Just like every other day.
And when I hear you will you have a lot to say to me?
cause I should have been there.
Lying by your side.
Wishing each and every night.
None-the-less the wiser, you know I could have lied.
But that's why I went inside.
