This is a promise of redemption
These are the words you never said
'Cause you'll regret to say, "I'm sorry"
But the words will never mend

These are the problems that will bind us
To the ties that won't unfold
As we cross those bridges and boundaries
To where we'll never know

So you hope that I won't let you down
Well, I've got this burning in my stomach
And it keeps me up at night

And as I lie down and think to myself
About all the times you lied
So forgive me when I tell you
I won't let this one pass me by

This is the promise of redemption
These are the words you never said
'Cause you'll regret to say, "I'm sorry"
But the words will never mend

These are the problems that will bind us
To the ties that won't unfold
And as we cross those bridges and boundaries
To where we'll never know, we'll never know

So listen to the words straight up from my mind
And you'll realize that with time
You let go of the best thing that ever happened to you
That ever happened to you

This is the promise of redemption
These are the words you never said
'Cause you'll regret to say, "I'm sorry"
But the words will never mend

These are the problems that will bind us
To the ties that won't unfold
And as we cross those bridges and boundaries

To where we'll never know, we'll never know

As those words, fall off your lips
And roll right down to your fingertips
And throw them away, throw them away

'Cause nothing really matters
When you lose the words to say
And now you're alone, and now you're alone

This is a promise of redemption
These are the words you never said
'Cause you'll regret to say, "I'm sorry"
But the words will never mend

These are the problems that will bind us
To the ties that won't unfold
And as we cross those bridges and boundaries
To where we'll never know, we'll never know
