Laying alone with the history that made you
Cold and uncertain inside
Well careful now, deep breath
The water's still rising
But your silver linings inside

When you, you feel like you're breaking down
And you, your body's just giving in
And you, you can't go on broken like this any longer

Close your eyes, don't you cry
Let the sorrow within you subside
Don't despair, have no fear
Give your way to me when you hear this lullaby
Lullaby, lullaby

You say all seems so wrong with the life that you're living
You're searching for some reason why
You're so scared to trust, you're feeling unworthy
Aching for comfort tonight

When your heart's too sore to beat
And you, you fear it might never heal
And you, you feel not even beggars want you
I do

Close your eyes, don't you cry
Let the sorrow within you subside
Don't despair, have no fear
Give your way to me when you hear this lullaby
Lullaby
Close your eyes
Don't you cry

Close your eyes, don't you cry
Let the sorrow within you subside
Don't despair, have no fear
Give your way to me when you hear this lullaby

Don't you cry

Let the darkness within you feel live
Don't despair, have no fear
You'll find comfort in me like a child
With this lullaby
