Some of my otherwise brilliant and productive friends ( like scoundrels and their flags) take final refuge in character assassinations;they ignore the issue and the relation between our consumption and brutality. So you can go ahead and roll your eyes and marginalize me , socially penalize me:play on my insecurities. And you can feign ignorance, but you're not stupid, you're just selfish. And I kinda thought we all shared common threads in that we gravitated here to challenge the conventions we've been fed by a culture that treats creatures like machines. And if you buy that shit then how long 'till it's me who serves as your commodity? Through institutionalized violence and oppression of workers and women raped by sexism. Do you still insist on feigning indignance to reason? To collective self-interest? Tell you what - I'll call you on your shit, please call me on mine. Then we can grow together and make this shit-hole planet better in time So why not consider some one else : stop consuming animals
