Don't tell me that you say you care
While you're fucking sacrificing nothing.
Don't even mention the word oppression
While you're driving Daddy's Jaguar.
Our prosperity is their death.
Pat us on the back, third world wallets gone.
There's blood on our hands,
It's your choice if you want to see it or not.
It could change. It comes down to you. Oppression is in your pocket.
It's all personal, it's not enough to cry.
This time you can start by cooking your flag.
You can stop doing what you're told.
Don't believe what you see on TV.
CNN reporters, they're all ex-generals.
Democracy, big fucking joke. It's just one big capitalist enterprise.
Smaller countries, they have no hope.
USA crushes self-government.
It's your choice, you could help to limit your contribution by restraint.
It could change. It comes down to you. Oppression is in your pocket.
It's all personal, it's not enough to cry.
This time... you can start by leaving the line.
You can stop doing what you're told,
Because today freedom is bought and sold. Bought &
Sold.
