Like brother we stood against it all
You broke all those bonds with lies

How can you look yourself in the face?
It's my blood on your hands

I see your mouth forming some words
But all that shit I no longer hear
I view you with such deep enmity
I'm tearing you down piece by piece
I will not rest until you are dead
And I make it so.

I'll treat you the way that you deserve
Give you nothing; you only gave me pain
Your worst fears will pale next to me
Hunting you down sparing no mercy

Your deceit has ended my life
What irony: you endure my fate
The panic rising now
Although repentance is too late.

I bear such weight
To know the desperate truth
Of misplaced trust..
And friendship...

There is nothing left but contempt..
And loathing...
