look, there's hard luck willie he begs for bucks sometimes he ain't never bothered nobody and nobody bothered to hand him a dime he don't wanna work cause he looks like a bum and he stinks like a turk but he'll survive, they say, to urinate where you eat someday

leave this life behind you honey and don't you ever come back
these streets are paved with violence, broken dreams, and vials of crack so sick of living in a city where ignorance is truly bliss mass transit, penn station, ass rancid with the sentch of piss why do they call him willie? and what will he do for money? will he sell his ass and get cash for sex? what will he think of next? got a couple of johns on file he was willing to serve with a smile so he sold himself for the price of a fix and the next day willie called in sick

come back
these streets are paved with violence,
bus terminal, port authority, portapotty with the stench of piss they cry as they lie in their filth, i call it a crime so drunk they can drown in their puke, of bile and wine defecation in general can heat seal your nose with a kiss so don't bother holding your breath - inhale some of this
