Her life support is breaking
Now she's sinking like a stone.
And as background changes colours.
She's afraid to be alone again.

My smile, she loves the most
but it changes every hour.
My life, she hates the most,
it's dying like a flower on an early day of winter.

In a world of rage and fury
I have become apart of who we are
and all the thinks you'd live for.
Sign your name across the dotted line
and give yourself away to all the things you'd die for,
things you'd die for.

Could have been my lover.
Someone I can blame.
Life is a long quiet river.
Well my thoughts are much the same than yours.

In a world of rage and fury
I have become apart of who we are
and all the thinks you'd live for.
Sign your name across the dotted line
and give yourself away to all the things you'd die for,
things you'd die for.

Have you found a purpose?
You're drowning in your sleep
You struggle to the surface.
You're in way too deep.

Her life support is breaking
Now I'm sinking like a stone.
And as background changes colours.
She's afraid to be alone.

In a world of rage and fury
I have become apart of who we are and all the things you'd live for.

Sign your name across the dotted line
and give yourself away to all the things you'd die for,
things you'd die for
