Cut self not
To validate the life as whole

I would say
How splintered and locked away

Tired of sin
Here I am afraid
To set the ties and attain

Away
To be caught up in it somehow
Clean in your mind

Cut self not
Just forget a battle with split self

I would fail
So what if I walked away

Take a second and look at what you have
Take a second and look at what you don't have
One with another locked out
On my own it's the sad fact

Sometimes you get it
No time to get it
