□□I try to assemble everything that I've lost
I'm torn up in pieces and there's no place to start
The sparkles in your eyes, how I wish to tell the tale

But you will break and you take everyday
And you would rip me up in anyway

Now I'm coming in to shore
And I don't know where to go
'Cause your smile has always bind me
Now I'm lifeless so God, help me
And you've always felt so close
Now I'm dying at your door
Now I'm crying and I'm praying
So please, come back home

Didn't mean to hurt you, but the night just caught my eye
Took me away to a place upon the clouds
Seems it was yesterday the world was you and me

But you will break and you take everyday
And you would rip me up in any way

Now I'm coming in to shore
And I don't know where to go
'Cause your smile has always blind me
Now I'm lifeless so God, help me

And you've always been so close
Now I'm dying at your door
And I'm crying and I'm praying
So please, come back home

She's telling me stories
And telling me secrets
She's telling me lies
God, should I believe it?

She's telling me stories
She's telling me secrets

She's telling me lies
God, should I believe it?

Now I'm coming in to shore
And I don't know where to go
'Cause your smile has always blind me
Now I'm lifeless so God, help me

And you've always felt so close
Now I'm dying at your door
Now I'm crying and I'm praying
So please, come back home

And I'm crying and I'm praying
So please, come back home
