This is the last song ever written
About trains and brains and rain
Ain't it a sin?
For these good lyrics
I have no fears
They've all got roles and plots and gears
They have for years
Train is running around in my brains
Rain is flowing around in my veins
Tears are running down my face
For the last stupid song
Let's get on board
This scattered brain
Folks drunk as poets all sound the same
But don't be afraid
For this surprise
If he was with us
Is that we played this track for you
And please, some tears
Train is running around in my brains
Rain iss flowing around in my veins

Tears are running down my face

For the last stupid song
