And so I landed here on another planet
By now it seems it might have happened to me
Everybody here looking at me weird, so I wondered
And so I wondered and wandered around the planet Looking for some things that might have mattered to me

Everything here looks to me to be:

All in order

All in order it seems to be

'Till cautiously, I go

Around the corner where nothing will grow without a

Kind of water that they don't know about

The Plants think the animals are ruining everything

Everything here looks to me to be:

All in order

All in order... I go
