There's a man standing on the corner
With a sign sayin "will work for food"
You know the man
You see him every morning
The one you never give your money to
You can sit there with your window rolled up
Wondering when the lights going to turn green
Never knowing what a couple more bucks
In his pocket might mean

What if he's an angel sent here from Heaven
And he's making certain that you're doing your best
To take the time to help one another
Brother are you gonna pass that test
You can go on with your day to day
Trying to forget what you saw in his face
Knowing deep down could've been his savin' grace
What if he's an angel

There's a man
And there's a woman
Living right above you in apartment G
There's alot of noise coming from through ceiling
And it don't sound like harmony
You can sit there with your TV turned up
While the words and his anger fly
Come tomorrow when you see her with her shades on
Can you look her in the eye

What if she's an angel sent here from heaven
And she's making certain that you're doing your best
To take the time to help one another
Brother are you gonna pass that test
You can go on with your day to day
Trying to forget what you saw in her face
Knowing deep down it could've been her savin' grace
What if she's an angel

A little girl, on daddy's lap
Hiding her disease with a baseball cap
You can turn the channel
Most people do

But what if you were sitting in her daddy's shoes

Maybe she's an angel

Sent here from Heaven

And she's making certain that you're doing your best

To take the time to help one another

Brother are you gonna pass that test

You can go on with your day to day

Trying to forget what you saw in her face

Knowing deep down it could've been her savin' grace

What if she's an angel
