In that room where you sit, where you live
I know it's good to you
God, I know it's good to you

In your fear where you lay
Where you think it eases all the pain
All the pain of what you made

One last night at the lonely wheel
One last taste of the sin we feel
One hope in the fear that drives us on

One last drink just to kill the pain
One last breath before I say your name
I'm giving into you, I'm giving into you

If you could see in me there is all you want
There is all you want
If you would just give in it will get easier
It will get easier
If you'd just give in it would get

One last night at the lonely wheel
One last taste of the sin we feel
One hope in the fear that drives us on

One last drink just to kill the pain
One last breath before I say your name
I'm giving into you, I'm giving into you

I get it, I need to fall
I get it, I need to call
Me and who I am are so in the way
Me and who I am, we are so in the way

One last night at the lonely wheel
One last taste of the sin we feel
One hope in the fear that drives us on

One last drink just to kill the pain
One last breath before I say your name
I'm giving into you, I'm giving into you

One last night at the lonely wheel
One last breath before I say your name
I'm giving into you, I'm giving into you
