"Moon Mad"

Remember the light
From the stars in the night
That floated above us
While we held each other
Like a ghost
Your soul flowed through me
And I held the key to your heart
But my mind and my heart
Spun out of control
And I lost you
When the moon's madness
Took its toll
But I loved you

Remember the light
From the moon shining bright
That covered your face
With its pale, haunting colors
Like a ghost
Your light flowed through me
And I painted you in black and white
But my mind and my heart
Spun out of control
And I lost you
When the moon's madness
Took its toll
But I loved you
