Another day
Another story is waiting for us
Yet we don't know what we've to expect
And the question always is
Will we get away with it or will it be the last time?
Finally we meet our maker

We always know
We always wait
We always stay and let it happen

In the end there's no option
We have to start again
Waiting for the next disaster and take it like a man
Somehow we will stay united
Though it's never easy
And we might get away as long as we're around
