"Never Get Her"

The last thing I remember was my first surrender.
After that, it's all a blur.
You said that we would be together even when the world came crashing down on us.
And if I fall tonight, I'll only fall for now.
Forever is only a lie, and the nights we spent don't mean anything now.
Place the blame on me and walk away from this.
It's easier to look down on me when you hold yourself up on a pedestal and say that everything's my fault.
You'll never get her.
I'll never understand her.
