When I give up on it all
I feel like a dime store souvenir
And she calls my name
So low and clear

She comes walking through the desert
Through the west Texas heat
Like a wave on the ocean
White sand on her feet

Run like a river into the sea
Easy as the wind, she's reaching to me
Tells my fortune by looking in her eyes
[Unverified]And you tell my fortune

Like some evil dream
When my feet won't run
Yeah, the seconds crawl by
And I'm coming undone

She said you worry yourself
Right on out of your mind
Come on, baby, pour it out
Like honey and wine

Run like a river into the sea
Easy as the wind she's reaching to me
Tells my fortune by looking in her eyes
[Unverified]And you tell my fortune

When I give up on it all
I feel like a dime store souvenir
And she calls my name
So low and clear

Run like a river into the sea
Easy as the wind she's reaching to me
Tells my fortune by looking in her eyes
[Unverified]And you tell my fortune
And you tell my fortune
