Chorus(Indecipherable)

Verse 1:

The key to everything, everybody here in America is the money.
Some say that it's the root of all evil;
brings wars and other cells of upheaval.
Leaves family in the streets with nothing to eat;
little baby boys and girls
no shoes on their feet;
all the men who leave home dying in the war zones and the women do it all they own.
It reminds me of the ghettos right here and the hoods that I see, everywhere that I've been in the is country.
Stop bailing out the banks and give the Franklins to me
I guess my piece of the pie ain't free, can you free.

Ooooh

Chorus(Indecipherable)

Verse 2:

He don't care and she don't care;
they both got brand new clothes to wear and they ain't worry
cuz they don't know what its like to be left out in the snow

The dirt
the filth
the gutter
the grime
the pain
the strain
the hustle
the climb
the struggle to fight the conflict

the crime
I don't by that line that it's nature's design you different,
you ugly,
you evil
you wrong
you stupid
you dumb
your mind ain't too strong your daddy ain't from here so you don't belong and the list goes on and on and on and on....

Chorus(Indecipherable)
