Forget bad advice, at least for today, at least for right
now

'Cause it's not what it seems

My lungs are clean for the first time in years

I made a recovery, are we living in a dream?

I used to be so many things

I made apologies for the things I used to say.

I used to say so many things

Forget all my lines, at least for today, at least for right
now

'Cause we both had that dream

The one on the street where I burst into flames

And when you go, I'm always one step behind.

'Cause zombies walk, but they don't walk in a straight line.

Yeah!

I almost died tonight.

I'm singing chants on state street.
