Well you started by yourself and then you lived with someone else but you can't go back the way it was before And I can see it in the eyes I just know when things aren't right and nothing seems to matter anymore.

It doesn't matter anymore (x3)

Well how does it feel when you're on your own their
now,
how does it feel when I'm on my own terms now, go in all the way and I don't care what you say, no way, no way, no way.

Well you started out as one another one made twice the fun, but you tried to do some digging and got buried, well its happened twice before and you know it'll happen more, now I can't feel my legs like I'm being carried.

It doesn't matter if I try counting out on all my five fingers where I'm supposed to go I tried hanging round with all the dead ringers people I used to know.

Well how does it feel when you're on your own their
now,
how does it feel when I'm on my own terms now,
go in all the way and I don't care what you say.

Cos don't you know that ooh I've started again, started again and if I didn't have you I'd have to pretend, have to pretend. when nothing is right where do I go and what do I say and who do I know

It doesn't matter anymore (x3)
