so sick, so sick of the way that you're always right, you're always so right and i wish this awkward silence this awkward silence would let off for just tonight and i hate, i hate the way that you left me for dead, you left me for dead i can't help but hold on to i'm holding on to everything you said now i've made it so far from you now we've made it so far apart i won't let there be a chalk outline of my heart

you're never around, no you're never ever and i wish that i could forget you but i'll never forget you, i'll regret this forever
and i hate, i hate the way that you're full of excuses and i don't want to hear them i should have known better than this i'm better than this, you won't hear from me again i couldn't think of any words to say to make this any more obvious well i never knew, i never knew
