"Black & White"

Everyday there is no one to blame
Everyday it's always the same
Left alone, always put aside
The world turned cold
It's all black and white
Committed to your judge
It seems that God is talking to me
I see the stairway to the fallen
I see the stairway to the fallen one
I don't want to spend my life
Thinking how it will end
Is it just me I'm trying to be
Please try to see that this is meant to be
So far away from words
As my path goes on
This life is sinking to the ground
I take the course of my life
As I please
Do you like it?
I do
I don't want to spend my life
Thinking how it will end
So far away from words
As my path goes on
This life is sinking to the ground
Everyday there is no one to blame
Everyday it's always the same
The world turned cold
It's all black and white
Your God isn't real
And if it is he doesn't give a shit
About you or anyone else
He takes away, he takes away
Your beliefs and dreams
Away from those you love
So if you believe, you better stop
So far away from your words
As my path goes on
This life is sinking to the ground
This is the fall of men

You better stop praying
You better stop praying now
This is the fall of men
The fall of men
Committed to your judge
It seems that God is talking to me
I see
So far away from words
