"All The World Is Love"

In my secluded state my mind Valued things are hard to find My mind's gone I know not where left without a care

When my thoughts are taking flight pen them down on sheets of white Building castles in the air
left without a care

In a crowded room alone that's where you'll find me
I have left my mind somewhere floating behind me

Blue skies white clouds to be seen wish my mind could be as clean As the clouds that swim above
all the world is love

chorus

Bubbles forming all around Left my body on the ground Unattached too hard to move
All the world is love
All the world is love
All the world is love
