"Your Eyes"

I gave you all girl I gave everything to you
But all the love I had
It wasn't good enough for you

Just for awhile
Just for awhile you took my heart
I want it back before you tear it apart

Your eyes I can read it in your eyes
All those long forgotten lies
I can see it in your smile
More and more everyday love is fading away in your eyes

And there was a time
A time when you needed my embrace
But now we're standin here
Like two strangers face to face
I feel alone
And after all the thrill has gone
I close the door 'cause you don't need me no more
