You're never gonna take me alive
So you see it's just a waste of your time
You've got better things to do
If you want to survive

I hope it's not a bummer to know
That I'm never ever gonna let go
And I dream of you almost every night

You told me that you wanted my soul
Well, it's not mine to control
In these danger days you've got to sell
What you want to own, no, no, no

You know you are the one to watch
You know you are the sign
And that just makes it easy to decide

The neon lights the sounds, the sights
Your curtain's coming down
So go on and get on with your life

I think about you every day
Though you're a million miles away
And the distance makes it easier to say

I never want to see you again
Though of course you know I have to pretend
It's going to take my mind away
Once again, again, again

You know you are the one to watch
You know you are the sign
And that must make it easy to decide

The neon lights the sounds, the sights
Your curtain's coming down
So go on and get on with your life

Get on with your life
Get on with your life
Get on with your life

Get on with your life
