Here comes Molly in an overcoat
The middle of summer she just missed the boat
She a looking for pity, just a different life
But for the grace of God goes you and I

And here comes Willie little out of touch
Guess he must have messed around just a little too much
But it's never too late to get another chance
When your just another victim of circumstance

Now I'm calling everybody stand face to face
We're all sisters and brothers in the human race
We can learn from each other ain't no big disgrace
Just throw a little love all around the place
All around the place...

Now sidewalk Sally's standin' in the rain
That umbrella of hers has seen some better days
And Long John Silver's in the pirate mode
Yeah, the Harlem River must have overflowed

Well some folks got it and some folks don't
And some they want to share it and some they won't
But whatever's broke just needs a little fix
And it's never too late to teach a dog new tricks

So I'm calling everybody stand face to face
We're all sisters and brothers in the human race
We can learn from each other ain't no big disgrace
Just throw a little love all around the place
All around the place... All around the place...
Just throw a little love all around the place... get it...
