I know your life is hard
It's so hard
And then sometimes it seems like no one cares about anything
But themselves
And they sell themselves short
Life is too short to sell yourself
I don't want you to live like this
Life is too hard to live like that
So that's why I'm coming to get you
No matter what that's right
I'll be your getaway

When you're lost and want to be found
I will be the one who finds you
You can call me anywhere
I will drive at least 10,000 miles

I know you feel like your life is falling down
But you can't cry
You just keep going on wrecking yourself
Cause the good things always go to someone else
And the slave game is always the same game
I don't want you to live like this
Life is too hard to live like that
So that's why I'm coming to get you
No matter what that's right
I'll be your getaway

When the lights above
Are shining through you
The stars above
Will lead me to you

I know your life is hard
It's so hard
And then sometimes it seems like life keeps knocking you down
So you drive and you strive
When you finally get up you get fed up
It just won't let up

I don't want you to live like this
Life is too hard to live like that
So that's why I'm coming to get you
No matter what that's right
I'll be your getaway

I will drive for hours
I will make you mine
I will drive you anywhere
We can drive at least 10,000 miles
