Accepting my fate
Has drifted away
We can't lock ourselves inside our minds
With so little time, I haven't a dime
What lies at the road ahead unknown
With logic & loss
With feelings are gone
It's tearing me up inside and out
What don't you regret
There's something I bet
You take out turn every chance you get
We turn every road you're giving
When all of us help you're living
We'll fight to be, while we're standing cause you've never done
For us
For you
For all of us
We hold to ourselves
Cause there's noone else
To stop you from destroying our minds
When you are running, remember one thing
There's more of us than they are of you
We've taken our time
You're crossing the line
It's not over till we save all us
Can't do anything, you live in a dream
We laugh at you trying to escape
