

Hungry Lucy

"Hill"

Visit "Hill" on MotoLyrics.com

I need to find some magic key
I need to calm this fire in me
I'm waiting for the paths to be clear
Muddy waters magnify my fear

To find your pain we must go underneath the hill
Your heart is broken and we cannot find your will
The truth is here if you can open eyes to see
For if you stop and look you'll find that you are free

My ghosts are staring back at me
Reflecting all I used to be
My love, my god, my history
Holding everything that I can't see

To find your pain we must go underneath the hill
Your heart is broken and we cannot find your will
The truth is here if you can open eyes to see
For if you stop and look you'll find that you are free

This corridor is dark and long
Displaying all that I've done wrong
I realize the past is gone
Now I need to learn to carry on

To find your pain we must go underneath the hill
Your heart is broken and we cannot find your will
The truth is here if you can open eyes to see
For if you stop and look you'll find that you are free

To find your pain we must go underneath the hill
Your heart is broken and we cannot find your will
The truth is here if you can open eyes to see
For if you stop and look you'll find that you are free

Visit Hungry Lucy page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.