

Pyrrah "Human Debris"

Visit "Human Debris" on MotoLyrics.com

The creature man so wicked, evil
Angering its celestial creators
Leaving them with no choice
Deciding to destroy them all
Submerge them till none are left!

The death day has come, the final solution
They shall be damned to the underworlds
The wrath of gods combined, time to kill them all
Skies open up, lethal waters fall
Depopulate the earth, make sure all are dead
Drown them in the streets, fluid fills their lungs
Water mixed with blood covering the earth
Corpses lying around, sinking to the depths

No life preserved, but two pious souls
Warned by a god, before the decimation
Thus they were spared from the watery grave
Now they float alone, in their tiny vessel
On this sea of human debris
Watching as limbs and heads float on past

Once mankind has drowned, no more water falls
It starts to drain away violently
Mixing everything into a human soup
Turns into a red, fast-moving river

Strong currents move 'round the dead bodies
Picking them up and bashing them around
Shredded by rocks and smashed into ruins
Dismembered by the blows and crushed by rubble

The only two living that remained
Still kept safe in their vessel
Watching as the waters leave
The remains of man being revealed

Dead silence rings in their ears
Feeling death surround them
Looking at what is left
Taking in this devastation
The stench of a thousand corpses

Tasting blood in the air
Cadavers litter the ground
Like the scum that they were

Blood of thousands covers the ground
Bodies piled up, torn limbs everywhere
Intestines as garlands decorate trees
Clouded eyes staring back at the living

Horrid stench infiltrates nostrils
Peeling skin litters surroundings
Bloated, blackened, water-logged corpses
Bodiless limbs, headless cadavers
Mutilated through the wrath of gods
No longer recognizable as once being human

Dead silence rings in their ears
Feeling death surround them
Looking at what is left
Taking in this devastation
The stench of a thousand corpses
Tasting blood in the air
Cadavers litter the ground
The survivors see no future!

Visit Pyrrah page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.