Find me where I'm hiding
Call me I will come to you And in the midnite hours you tease me out with thoughts of you
So you can paint a scene of warmth and wine and candlelight
But can you tell me how you keep taking me
How you keep taking me to Heaven

There's something about your touch
Cause I'm walking beside you- I want you so Much You're loving me just enough to keep me coming back

How did you uncover that small voice inside of me Nothing's been the same, not since you got right to the heart of me
And how you take your knife and cut the mask right off my face
And then you tell me how your'e gonna keep on taking me to Heaven

There's something about your touch
When I'm lying beside you I need you so much Keep loving me just enough to keep me coming back
There's something about your touch
When I'm wakling beside you I need you so much

You're loving me just enough to keep me coming back

And in the end you understand
You will always have my hand
In my wildest dream, I never thought that anyone could make me feel the way that you can Baby ohhhhhhh
And when you touch me
Would it be- touch me baby
Please put your- put your hands all over me

There's something about your touch
When I'm walking beside you I want you so much
You're loving me just enough to keep me coming back
Oh there's something about your touch

When I'm walking beside you I want you so much You'r loving me just enough to keep me coming back-oh to keep won't you please- won't you touch me Touch me baby
Please- please so put your hands all
Put them all over me
There's something about your touch
And I'm lying beside you I want you so much You're loving me just enough to keem me...
