

Allan Taylor

"Something's Changed"

Visit "Something's Changed" on MotoLyrics.com

Something's changed
You've rearranged the way you wear your hair
It's your peculiar way that makes me say
I know you really care

You've shown your colours and now I can see
You really want to mean something to me
And you know you do, you really do

And when I hold your hand
I understand the way you really feel
Cos there's a hidden smile that stays awhile
And deep inside I know it's real

You've shown your colours and now I can see
You really want to mean something to me
And you know you do, you really do

And what is deep inside, you cannot hide
It comes through in the end
And now I've seen the light, it's shining bright
And it goes on without an end

You've shown your colours and now I can see
You really want to mean something to me
And you know you do, you really do
Oh, you really do

Visit Allan Taylor page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.