What if I'm just a bad songwriter
And everything I say has been said before?
Well, everything to say has been said before
And that's not what makes or breaks us up

What if I'm lousy up on the stage
And everybody watching is rolling their eyes
Well, you can roll your eyes at whatever you choose to
And really it's all up to you

Cause beauty's in the eye of the beholder
Love is in the ear of the listener
Beauty's in the eye of the beholder
Love is in the ear of the listener

What if everybody just thinks I'm a phony
What if nobody ever gets it
Well, some people never get anything
And I shouldn't care what people think

What if people are sick of hearing love songs
Maybe I should sing about dyin'
Or maybe I should sing about how I'm not
Gonna control what comes out of my mouth

Cause beauty's in the eye of the beholder
Love is in the ear of the listener
Beauty's in the eye of the beholder
Love is in the ear of the listener
