We've got blue skies
We've got blue skies

It seems like only yesterday, you gave your love to me
And we made a vow that through the years our love would always be Whenever doubts would fill my mind, you'd brush my fears away Look into my eyes and hold me close and this is what you'd say

We've got blue skies, now can't you see?
There'll never ever be another love for me

The pleasant dreams we shared made our love stronger with each day And the fears that haunted me seemed like a million miles away
When friends we knew would come to me with lies about your love I'd tell them happiness and sunny skies are all we're thinking of We're so in love, we're thinking of Blue skies, blue skies

Yeah I see you there, you're kissing him, how can this really be?
Well, I guess it's time to realize my dreams are more to me
And as I walk off thinking what a fool I must have been Like an echo from my lips today, I hear you telling him

We've got blue skies, now can't you see?
There'll never ever be another love for me
We've got blue skies, now can't you see?
There'll never ever be another love for me

Blue skies, we've got blue skies
Blue skies, we've got our blue skies Blue skies, we've got blue skies, oh baby

Blue skies, we've got blue skies
Blue skies, we've got blue skies
Blue, blue skies, blue, blue skies
