

Alove For Enemies "My Days Are Vanity"

Visit "My Days Are Vanity" on MotoLyrics.com

My tongue has grown heavy, with the things I cannot say

Lost in this world of blue, black, and grey, I've tasted hell, as it came for me

Should I live or die, I can't decide, contemplating my life, as I think about the end

Should I take it all away from myself, saving me from all this pain and decit

My heart will fall from the sky and shatter on the ground,

Shards of blood will pour out, into this letter

Should I live or die, I can't decide, contemplating my life, should I end it all myself

Taking it all away from me, and save myself from this bitterness and pain

My heart will fall from the sky and shatter on the ground,

Shards of blood will pour out, into this letter,

That I leave behind telling the reasons why I chose

To hide, hide in death, wrap myself up in this darkness and cold

There's no turning back, holding your breath, waving goodbye

There's no turning back, holding your breath, waving goodbye again

Visit Alove For Enemies page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.