You didn't know my heart would mend And you take my place under a ceiling end now I dont even stop believing, I be helping you to pack,
so baby dont come back

Now I didnt mind being left alone I got tired of you bring your business home Now I'm making all abraisons to the welcome on the mat
so baby dont come back
dont come back Well never had revenge in mind cos and eye for and eye would make the whole world blind but forgiveness is the business of some other different matter
so baby don't come back
dont come back.
