Feel like an animal caged in a zoo
There's always someone watching what it is I do
Can't find a place to hide escape from it all
Ain't got no wings to fly, can only crawl
I'm gonna leave get up and go
Just put it all behind don't wanna know

Give me an open space where I may roam
A sacred place to build my home
Run me a river wild of melting snow
And wings to fly from high to low

Don't feel safe at home chain and bolt the door
Under my pillow lies a loaded .44
Can smell the dirty streets rotting away
Can hear my neighbour beat his wife everyday
Don't wanna stay, I gotta get away
Can't stand this living hell another day

Give me an open space where I may roam
A sacred place to build my home

Run me a river wild of melting snow
And wings to fly from high to low
Give me an open space where I may roam
A sacred place to build my home
Run me a river wild of melting snow
And wings to fly from high to low

There is no escape from mass population
People living more like ants everyday
You cannot prevent world devastation
As cities crumbles to the ground

Give me an open space where I may roam
A sacred place to build my home
Run me a river wild of melting snow
And wings to fly from high to low
Give me an open space where I may roam
A sacred place to build my home
Run me a river wild of melting snow

And wings to fly from high to low
