As you woke this morning
And opened up your eyes
Did you notice the tear-stains
Lining your face were mine
Don't you wonder, can't you see
What's happening to our lives
I can't keep living this masquerade
When my lonely eyes see only your face at night

CHORUS

I only see in infrared
I can't dream anymore
Can't you see I need, too
I can't stand the pain
You've gathered all my secrets
And I don't know who I am
I even feel alone when you're near
'Cause you'll never understand
When we first met I must have seemed
A million miles away
It's strange how our lives have touched
But the time is right
I'll leave tonight
Don't look in my eyes
'Cause you've never seen them so black
