

Quench

"This Year's Love"

Visit "This Year's Love" on MotoLyrics.com

Well this years love was last years lust giving hope to see tomorrow
Will next years love be an equal must or just follow on into sorrow
We love we lose we try to prove there is something here we can follow
But knock by knock we feel the shock find the strength we need to borrow

Springs watered hope the oasis clear bringing life where all was broken
Let the water flow as we seek to grow on the whispers
You have spoken
I see You there You see me here through the midst of life You reappear and still I seem to fear

Will you ever let me fall?
Will you ever let me drown?

and I know Your love goes on forever and I know that You are the rock now for my feet and yes I know that though I walk through the valley still your rod and your staff me comfort still

The questions rise try to fight the lies but You know before they're offered I try to hide in my vain disguise to be seen and not to be heard I see You there You see me here through the midst of life You reappear oh and still I seem to fear
oh and still I seem to fear

no
You will never let me fall
no
You will never let me drown

