

A Moments Peace

"Little Things"

Regardless of what is expected of me sometimes I feel like it all amounts to nothing I know my lord is always watching out for me but I still let anger get the best of me sometimes I fill with rage over nothing little things always seem to rip and tear at me major problems come and go and I can handle them with a clear mind and its the little things in life that always bring out the worst in me I know that I should take it easy problems come and go to everyone not just me and I find if I give it up to thee the problem goes and I'm left with serenity
