You think I notice that you're standing there right next to me Am i supposed to bow my head and thank you greatfully you break my heart and turn around to get what still remain I sold my soul and bought my fear my inner pains

With out a clue i'd trust i'd follow you with my eyes blind and what i cannot see i need i cannot leave behind

With all those eyes i feed their hunnger its insanity i can see you standing there do you want to be free
do you want to be me

(chours)

I don't want to be the only one to see my name wrote upon the sun i dont want to be the only one to watch it fall into the sea i dont want to have to play the game sell my soul betray my name i dont want to be the only one

So you just sit there stuck afraid to risk reality those words are mine and you can find them deep inside of me you walk away somehow dismayed at what you may have done the lies the dreams the broken promises the only one

I cant remember whose idea it was to make this real divided equally my feelings i still cannot fail and there you are your all alone inside your fantasy

do you want to be free
do you want to be me

(chours)

And when the light is gone and its just you and me will you allow us to be who were supposed to be or will time erode our thoughts away eternity

(chours)

i dont want to be the only one x3 i dont want to be the only one to watch it fall into the sea
