Summertime
It's so fine
Like the day that the snow gave way to 28 Centigrade
Vapor trails and the choice we made
Night brings day
The wolves at bay never learned to sleep when they needed it
And the blood they breed with fears they feed
Can't believe how they mistreated it when they needed
it

I'd turn around
Take it back
Let it ride for the likes of you
I'd tear it down
Build it up
Give it all for the likes of you

We shared a time when our worlds align
And the stars reminded of a fire that will burn forever
But where are you now?
Somehow I can hope when the sun goes down
Then night brings dawn
The holes in the lawn never had their fill when they needed it
And the jealous weeds, like the love they freed
Can't believe how they mistreated it when they needed

The time to hin
The drive to drink
The spaces far between and few
I'd give all for the likes of you
