Far away the sun is setting shadows darken everywhere one by one the stars are building silver castles in the air somewhere theres a tiny planet where a flower grows she is weak and she is helpless she is just a rose

If a flower is loved by someone if that someone is a boy when the stars come out at sunset he will open up with joy if that flower has been taken stars will flee the sky then he will see the darkness and he'll cry

your flower is waiting
your almost near
the stars are shining
they're shining here
we'll help you find
all that you left behind you
the stars are shining
they're shining
they're shining
they're shining here

we're shining
we're shining
The flower is waiting
it's waiting
it's waiting
it's almost near it's near
it's near
follow your heart
starlight will guide you home

Looking at the sky at midnight searching every inch of air

I can't see my tiny planet but I'm certain that it's there if the stars would only take me up into the sky
my heart would guide me homewards and I'd fly

I'm trying
I'm trying
I'm flying
you'll be soon there

The prince is flying
he's flying high
