All I hear is the bell now
She hears the sound of hell
She believe in her end and
She thinks she's just a shade
Anna and her friends, they cross the river branch
And now she's got a plan, she thinks

But everyone knows, everyone whispers
Everyone wanna close the door
When we stare at Anna
When we stare at Anna

Anna hears the phone now, her mother wants to visit her
She could cry her linger, still got the bridge anyhow
Lights on and light out, she sees the river branch
Still she hears the sound, no matter what's left here
The bridge

But everyone knows, everyone whispers
Everyone wanna close the door
When we stare at Anna
When we stare at Anna
Everyone knows, everyone whispers
Everyone wanna close the door
When we stare at Anna
When we stare at Anna.
