Blackened is the sky as the sun hides
Remains no colour
Petrified mortals await the vengeance of our wounded
Mother

We'll share her pain

Creation was ambition, and ambition led to desolation
The buried past has fallen to pieces
Dreams of power and conquest; possessive madness came
Into men
The urge to own or to destroy
They left her bleeding and spoiled
The crime shall no longer remain unpunished
Earth melts to a world of pain
To a world of pain

Torture, genocide, a reflection of hell has grown into Earth
Useless prayers; the enemy's faith has failed, where is Their saviour god?

Earth, dramatic epitaph
Earth, land of plague and thorns
Earth, theatre of slaughter
Earth, ravaged by human lust
