So you see right through me
And I can't see through anything
To you a firm conclusion
To me a phone about to ring

You can't be right about the future when you're wrong
about the past
Your legacy's in jeopardy and death is coming fast You only trust the foxes when they're cooped up with the hens
You stick it to the black and blue around you when you should be making friends

Dig my new solution
For harnessing depravity
We'll give everyone shotguns
And cloaks of anonymity

You can't be right about the future when you're wrong
about the past
Your legacy's in jeopardy and death is coming fast
You only trust the foxes when they're cooped up with
the hens
You stick it to the black and blue around you when you should be making friends
