"Hungry"

Standing beside your grave
Bearing a tear in my eyes
As I take a short but intensive look to the sky
I remember all bad and good times
It seems like yesterday
Living and crying is like loving and dying
I felt you in my insides
You were part of me
You have passed my heart
This time you weren't able to see
I will always keep your face
Keep your countenance
In my heart
The tear fades to dust
Everything I loved is lost
Did you feel my fear or haven't seen a tear
Did you ever trust in what I used to love
Or what I have thought
Now you know the price for your fatal lies
Hunger wasn't fought
That's why I ate you
