

Radar Bros

"The Wake Of All That's Past"

Visit "The Wake Of All That's Past" on MotoLyrics.com

So there we are again... Miles away from where we should Have been.
And leagues below us, standing on the surf they always Wonder where we've been.

I'll help ya find your way again. As long as you don't Lead us to them.
I always thought you were working for the man who keeps
Us miles away from land.

So lay me down in the sand. The world below us isn't half

As bad.
To keep in mind for everyone, the wake of all that's past
Will never come.

The wake of all that's past will never come. The wake of
All that's past will never come.
The wake of all that's past will never come. The wake of
All that's past will never come.

Visit Radar Bros page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.