Something so right
But how could I find
So captivating
So infatuated
You lay there
With your mouth open wide
The way you talk
The way my heart cries out for you
The way you love me
The way He can forgive you
You lay there
With your arms open wide
How could you lose something so bright
Feels like you lose your prize
How could you lose something so right
Feels like you lost your mind
You lay there
With your arms open wide
How could you lose something so bright
Feels like you lost your prize
And how could you lose something so right
Feels like you lost your mind
And how could you lose something so bright
Feels like you lost your prize
And how could you lose something so right
Feels like you lost your mind
You lost your mind
You lost your mind
You lost your mind
You forgot it, yeah
You found it
Oh, you found it
Well, you found it in love
